TROOPS IN MEXICO
FACE HARDSHIPS

Not a Murmur of Discontent Is Heard, However.

INDIAN SCOUTS AT WORK.

Ready to Search All the Mountains For Some Trace of the Outlaws—Efficiency of American Soldiers Leaves Vivid Impression on Mexicans—Some Are Friendly and Some Are Sullen.

As troop column succeeds troop column, horse, foot and guns, marching southward over the primitive trails of Chihuahua uplands and through the rambling towns and villages, it would appear as if the entire regular establishment of the United States land forces were being concentrated to encompass Francisco Villa and his brigades following, says a correspondent.

To the white troops and the black that have succeeded one another in the several phases of the man hunt has been added a force of Apache Indian scouts. These red men arrived at field headquarters the other day attired as are the white and the black. In the regulation olive drab of the United States army, uniform in garb as in purpose with the others of Uncle Sam's fighting men.

The Apaches appear to be intent upon performing their particular function in the broadly laid military scheme of General Pershing. Therein they differ not at all from the other units of the expeditionary force detailed to exact retribution for the Columbus atrocity.

As the most mobile of the troops are being thrust into the mountain gaps in every direction through which the fugitive fox of the Sierras might elude his pursuers all manner of rumors are flying over the face of the land.

Troops Impress Natives. The strength and obvious efficiency of the American troops have left a profound impression upon the Mexicans. Not all of the Mexicans of northern Chihuahua are inclined to brand Villa for what he is, for many regard him with superstitious fear and awe. They know him for what he was.

Others, and these are many, who have suffered grievously in their peaceful pursuits by his indiscriminate forays look with relief, if not with sympathy, upon the advent of the foreign troops upon their soil. There might have been anxiety in the beginning, for the United States border is nearly 300 miles away, and these peacefully inclined farmers never travel far and know but vaguely of the nation to the northward. With the scrupulous observance of all the rights of the inhabitants of the territory over which our troops are operating and the unaccompanied sensation of security from all molestation accompanying the occupation of this section by the expeditionary forces, the Mexican farmers are daily growing more friendly.

Anti-American Propaganda. That Villa and his lieutenants are carrying forward a carefully prepared propaganda, with the purpose of effecting a union of several factions to war upon the United States, is indicated by the rumors that are wafted abroad in guarded tones by a section of the population. There can be no effective resistance offered, however, so long as the Mexican government remains friendly, for the expedition, besides disintegrating at San Geronimo and Old Caliente the military organization of Villa, has been of immense educational value. All along the direct line of advance, at Casas Grandes, Gallena, El Valle, Las Cruces, Nampulga and the lesser towns and villages, it was noted that the Mexicans regarded our troops with great respect.

The attitude of these communities is indicative of the impressions left because of the scrupulous regard by the commanding general of the expedition for the national sensibilities of the people. At the same time the caliber of the troops—the superb condition of men, mounts and accoutrements—was not without its effect in stimulating the general feeling of amity.

Like the mathematical calculation of gasoline and all consumption by the indispensable truck trains is the measure of the troop and battery horses' endurance in the field. Infinite care is exercised at all times so that no trooper or fieldpiece may become ineffective, for without his mount and without a full complement of horses in a gun team the cavalryman and the artillery lose their worth in a field force. So also are the men being scrutinized by the surgeons and the food supply maintained at the requisite standard of quantity and quality in nutrient. So far from the supply base and with no other means than truck and wagon train, the maintenance of these supplies represents a considerable phase of the operations.

Throughout the march, although they touched no water for twenty-five miles one day, not a murmur of discontent from any soldier because of hardships endured was heard and not a horse faltered in spite of the terrific strain. On the mountain summits, where the trail led sometimes, the rarefied air currents swept with such force on occasion as to drive the uniformed horsemen from their precarious perch. Then only a few hours' rest intervened, and the march, with the riders, were picking their way on again.

SPORT "DOPE"

While the cold and unseasonable weather, which has prevailed in the east during the past three weeks, has greatly upset both professional and amateur sport schedules it has been a boom for spring football training at the big universities. The candidates have been able to indulge in much harder preliminary work than was the case a year ago when the thermometer was from twenty to thirty degrees higher. Practice is either completed or under way at Harvard, Princeton, Yale, Cornell, Brown, Columbia and other institutions which feature the game and the coaches report large squads and much enthusiasm among both the veterans and the new men who will try for places on the varsity eleven next fall.

The announcement by Pres. Charles Weeghman of the Chicago Cubs that a system of flags, hung from prominent buildings in the business center of Chicago, will be used in the future to notify fans of the section whether the game will be played as scheduled each day, might well be copied by club owners in other big league cities. Newspaper offices and other information distributing centers are frequently besieged by those who do not care to make a long trip to the ball parks unless they are reasonably certain that the teams will play. Ideas of this type, which help to put the game upon a real business basis, will be appreciated by followers of the sport wherever the game is played.

The sum of $7,000 which Stanford University students are endeavoring to raise in order to send the varsity crew and track team east this spring appears at first sight to be a large amount of money for the purpose. When it is considered, however, that at least twenty-five athletes will have to make the round trip of 7,000 miles the sum does not seem so big against transportation and board bills for a period of a month or more.

The following case is but one of many occurring daily in Anderson. It is an easy matter to verify it. You cannot ask for better proof.
W. H. Smith, farmer, 549 E. Orr St., Anderson, says: "I was almost frantic with pains across the small of my back. When I was picking cotton, a sharp pain would often catch me in the small of my back and I would have to brace myself in order to straighten up again. The kidney secretions passed too freely and they were scanty and burned. The secretions were highly colored, and looked like brick dust. I had suffered for a couple of months when I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got some at Evans' Pharmacy. The first few doses relieved me and one box fixed me up in the shape. Price 50 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Smith had. Foster-McIlburn Co. Props., Buffalo, N. Y."

Everyone Should
Drink Hot Water
in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, cold, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost useless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphate hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their return.

To feel like young folks—like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

"To Fight For All Mankind"

have for the asserting of his physical force is that she submits it in behalf of the interests of humanity.

What a splendid thing it is to have so singular a tradition—a tradition of unselfishness! When America comes to be unselfish she will cease to be America. When she forgets the traditions of devotion to human rights in general which gave spirit and impulse to her founders, she will have lost her title deeds to her own nationality.
